MONSTER FESTIVAL AT FAIR GROUNDS.

Attendance Estimated at Nearly 100,000, the Greater Part School Children.

GORGEOUS MARCH OF NATIONS.

Crowning Event of the Day a Splendid Spectacle-Athletic Programme, Drills and Marches in Arena.

The union festival at the Fair Grounds yesterday for the benefit of the Teachers' Association of the St. Louis Public Schools, was the largest and most successful gathering of children in the city's history. It is estimated that nearly 100,000 persons attended, the greater part of whom were school children. The day was ideal and the crowds began coming early in the morning. At 2 o'clock the attendance reached its height.

The feature of the festival was the march of all nations, which took place late in the afternoon. This was participated in by more than 5.000 children, dressed in gromore than a low caladra, resset in glo-tesque costumes representing the nationali-ties of the world. They were formed and marched into the arean in groups repre-senting each nation. When the last batch had entered the gates were closed. A more gorgeous spectacle than that presented by the thousands of children, marching in three separate lines, from two to ten abreast. music, has never been witnessed in St. Louis. Exclamations of wonderment and cheers burst forth from the spectators in the amphitheater and band stand at the beautiful sight. Ireland, represented by pupils of the Penrose School, in quaint cos-tumes, seemed to be universally popular. This division received a continuous evation tumes, seemed to be universally popular. This division received a continuous ovation from the moment it entered until it passed out. But all the representations were exceedingly clever. Japan, China and the Indies had some advantage because of the natural beauty of dress in those countries.

A Brilliant Spectacle.

Not even in the sis, when the St. Louis Fair was in its paimiest days, did the grounds present so animated and brilliant an appearance as on yesterday. The old arena, with its booths and passages, was decorated in a fantastic manner. Each school in the city had a booth assigned it, and there was great rivalry as to which should be the most artistically beautified. Flaga, streamers, pennants, bunting and flowers were employed. In the center of the arena the old pavilion was draped with the national colors. From the flagsanf radiating to the roof over the seats were strands of wire on which the flaga of all nations fluitered in the breeze. The supports of the roof were wrapped around with vari-colored bunting. The buildings about the grounds were also decorated tastefully. The thousands of children were all dressed gaily, and added greatly to the liveliness of the scene. Especially was that true of the youngsters, in their unique casumes, who took part in the march of nations. One could see the Boer and Britton, Japanese and Russian, Chinese and Greek, German and Frenchman, playing together with pieasure and impunity, despite the earth.

Every school in the city was well represented, both by children and adults. In spite of the difficulties experienced in transportation, none of those counted upon to take part in events of the programme failed to appear. There was no hitch anywhere, and the entire festival was a complete success from every standpoint. Assistant Superintendent George T. Murphy, who was active in planning and carrying out the big event, was highly pleased at the outcome, and said that the management's most sanguine expectations were far surpassed.

Methods of Transportation.

Many of the pupils were taken to the grounds in wagons, which were donated for the purpose. The car lines, however, carried the majority of those present. Several schools which are situated near the Fair Grounds, sent their quota of the attendance on foot. In the evening there were hundreds of wagons waiting outside the grounds to go to every part of the city, and but little inconvenience and concepts. tendance on foot. In the evening there were hundreds of wazons waiting outside the grounds to go to every part of the city, and but little inconvenience and confusion was experienced in getting home.

A clever system was inaugurated by the management to prevent the possibility of young children being lost on the ground. Each school booth was numbered, and the youngsters were instructed to ask for that number if they became lost. The various teachers and members of committees were on the lookout for these juvenile derelicts, and although many were lost, all were returned safely to their respective booths.

For the most part, families and parties brought lunches in baskets, which were eaten on the grounds. The booths and lunch tables, however, had an abundant supply of sandwiches and ice cream for those who desired to purchase dinner. The larger boys in each school were appointed ushers, whose duty it was to give out programmes and see to it that every one got what he was looking for. They give excellent service during the day, and added greatly to the comfort of the plenickers.

Throughout the entire day a large portion of the crowd was packed into the arena. The events on the programme commenced at 2.35 a.m. From that time until after the March of the Nations, at 4.39 p. m., there was not a vacant seat to be seen, and during the afternoon the aisles and passage behind the seats swarmed with children. In the band stand and the grassy space around it were the judges, prominent citizens, teachers and officers of the association.

The children appeared to have a great longing to get to this reserved space, and the committees had great trouble in keeping them back. The Police Department was unable to spare special men for the picnic, and the entire work of marshaling the crowd devolved on the committees.

Athletic Events.

Athlette Events.

The programme opened with athletic events for district schools. In these the number of centestants was so large that it was impossible to run heats. Not all of the scheduled events took place owing to lack of time. The remainder will take place some Saturday after vacation. The judges were J. S. Collins, F. E. Cook, Charles L. Howard and William C. Dyer; timekeeper, D. Osterheld; referce, George Wittleb.

The events for the district schools were as follows: 100-yard dash, won by Kelley of the Columbia School, time 112-5; second, Kirchner of the Crow School; time 12. Half-mile bleycle race, J. Lynch, Running high-lump, Waiter Witch of the Peabody School; second, Prothers Pifty-yard dash by boys under 5 feet. S. Seligstein, first; Dulinsky, second.

After these events there was an exhibition drill by the High School Cadets, followed by the athletic events for members of the High School Athletic Association. The judges were F. W. Potthoff, Paul Miller, Paul Petter, R. D. White, I. N. Judson and C. B. Curtis. Owing to lack of time only a few of the events on the programme were pulled off. Pollowing are the results:

Drills and Marches.

The second half of the programme, which consisted of drills, marches and singing by school children, commenced at 2 p. m. More than 12,000 took part. There had been no previous drill of rehearsals of all the schools together, but, in spite of this, the various exhibitions were splendidly executed. The success of the drills and marches was attested by the deafening appliance of the spectators.

rested by the description of the first number was a drill by 4,000 pupils, girls and boys, dressed uniformly in white. These marched in through the gate twenty abreast and, after circling around the arena, halted at set places for callisthenic exercises. The alignment kept in the march was excellent, and would have compared well with drilled companies of troops. When spread out for the exercises the children occupied almost the entire arena.

At a signal from Director George Wittlich the entire mass set in perfectly uniform and rhythmical motion. In time to music they went through the prescribed motions of the wand drill, each child executing the same motion at exactly the same time.

After the drill the columns formed again and marched out through the gate.

Following this, 5,500 pupils of the kindergarten and primary classes, under the direction of Miss Mary C. McCullech, tripped into the arena and formed into a living star, the center being the space about the hand stand, with the points, formed of children, extending in all directions. The little ones sang several kindergarten songs, accompanied by the band, then marched out of the arna.

The gubernatorial contest having been settled some time ago in favor of Jeff Davis, the only interests involved in today's elections were the nominations for State Auditor, Attorney General and Secretary of State. Up to this morning the condidates stood as follows:

Secretary of State—Jett, 124, Crockett, 131. Attorney General—Murphy, 119; Chew, 103; Davidson, 27; King (withdrawn), 2.

Auditor—Monroe, 143; McFariand, 122. The contest in the First Congressional District over the seat held by Congressman P. D. McCulloch of Lee County was one of the chief features of to-day's voting. From returns already in it would seem that neither of the candidates will have the requisite vote to nominate when the convention convenes next month at Newport. Auditor Clay Sloan and Judge Felix G. Taylor of Craighead are opposing Mr. McCulloch, Mr. Sloan was slightly in the lead before the poils were opened this morning. Leaders of each faction say the three candidates will break almost even in the six counties that voted to-day, with Sloan still in the lead, but not enough to win on first ballot. Definite figures will not be obtainable until Sunday or posstbly Monday. On account of the large number of politing places located in the rural district off railroads or telephone communication, it will be impossible to foretell the result of the contests for the three State offices. For the Railroad Commissionership, Judge J. G. Wallace of Russellville, the present member from this district, has undoubtedly won. He only needed a few votes, and several counties situated near his home are said to have given him small but safe majorities.

In some cases the external signs of Contagious Blood Poison are so slight that the victim is firmly within the grasp of the monster before the true nature of the disease is known. In other cases the blood is quickly filled with this poisonous virus and the swollen glands, mucus patches in the mouth, sores on scalp, ulcers on tongue, sore throat, cruptions on skiu, copper colored splotches, and falling hair and eyebrows leave no room for doubt, as these are all unmistakable signs of Contagious Blood Poison. These poisonous minerals never yet made a complete and permanent cure of Contagious Blood Poison. These powerful minerals produce mercurial rheumatism and the most offensive sores and ulcers, causing the joints to stiffen and fanger nesis to drop off. Morroury and potash make wrocks, not cures, and those who have been dosed with these drugs are never after free from schae and instead of tearing down, builds up and invigorates the general health. S. S. S. is the only antidote for this specific virus, and therefore the only cure for Contagious Blood Poison. No matter in what stage or how hopeless the case may appear, even though pronounced incurable by the doctors, S. S. S. can be relied upon to make a rapid, permanent cure. S. S. S. is not a new, untried remedy; an experience of nearly fifty years has proven it a sure and unfailing cure for this disease. It is the only purely vegetable blood medicine known.

Mr. H. L. Myers, no Mulberry St., Newark, N. J., mys: "I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first, but afterwards read all over my body. These seem broke out into sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. Before I became convinced that the doctors could do me so good I had spent a hundred dollars, which was really thrown away. I then tried various patent medicines, but they did not reach the disease. When I had finished my first bottle of 8 S. S. I was greatly improved, and was delighted with the result. The large, red splottches on my chest began to grow paler and smaller, and before long disappeared entirely. I regulated my lost weight, became stronger, and my appetits improved. I was soon entirely well, and my skin as clear as a piece of glass."
